

Choosing A Transmission Shop

A Free Consumer's Guide By FindATrans.com

Things to Look For:

- Professional Shop Website
- Polite Telephone Greeting
- Automotive Repair Certifications
- Specialization in Your Make/Model
- Free Diagnostics / Towing
- Customer Testimonials
- Office Cleanliness and Uniform Appearance
- Shop Area Cleanliness

Before The Repair

- Get a diagnosis and a written estimate before authorizing repairs.
- Ask about warranty options in case there is a problem down the road.

After The Repair

- Get a completed repair order describing the work done including parts and labor hours.
- Ask for replaced parts – It's the law in most states
- If there is a problem, talk to the shop manager or owner first – then use your local consumer protection agencies or state Attorney General to file a complaint.
